

SHOP SMALL | GIVE BIG | CELEBRATE LOCAL

Tony Moline, CCE, IOM, PCED
President and Chief Executive Officer

As the holiday season draws near, our community comes alive with the energy of family gatherings, joyful traditions, and the spirit of giving. It's a time to reflect on what truly matters. The Cedar Park Chamber believes what matters is gratitude, connection, and community. There's no better way to honor that spirit than by supporting the businesses and organizations that make Cedar Park such a special place to call home.

When you shop small, you're not just checking off your holiday list, you're helping a neighbor keep their doors open. You're supporting local families, creating local jobs, and reinvesting right here in our community. Every dollar spent with a small business circulates through Cedar Park, strengthening the local economy in ways that online retailers simply can't match. That cup of coffee, that handmade gift, that service appointment — they all help fuel the local heartbeat of our city.

This holiday season, we encourage everyone to make a conscious effort to Shop Small and Shop Local. Whether you're picking up gifts, dining out, or treating yourself to something festive, think about the businesses that make Cedar Park unique. You'll find an incredible variety of shops, restaurants, and service providers right here in our backyard — many of whom are members of the Cedar Park Chamber of Commerce.

Not sure where to start? Head over to our Chamber website and explore our online business directory at CedarParkChamber.org. It's an easy way to discover local businesses you may not even know are here. Every one of those businesses or organizations plays a role in building a stronger, more connected community.

Giving back this season doesn't stop with shopping. Our local non-profits are doing incredible work to support families, children, and individuals in need throughout Cedar Park and Williamson County. They rely on the generosity of volunteers and donors to carry out their missions. This time of year is when that generosity matters most. If you have time, talent or treasure to share, consider reaching out to one of our Chamber member non-profits. Whether it's sorting donations, mentoring youth, serving meals, or offering a helping hand, your impact will be felt far beyond the holidays.

As we close out another year, the Cedar Park Chamber of Commerce is deeply grateful for the businesses, volunteers, and community leaders who continue to make Cedar Park thrive. Your dedication and support make our city stronger, more vibrant, and more resilient.

So this holiday season, let's celebrate what truly matters: community, connection, and gratitude. Let's shop small, give big, and show up for one another.
